3 pgs. Typed! Due in blackboard by the start of the final exam!

The formation of an American identity was a long and complicated process. What is an American? When did such an identity form and how did it evolve over time?

You must address both the first and second half of the course and use at least 3 different primary sources (of those we read for class) to fully answer the question. Because you may use your class materials, your argument should be highly detailed and well proven with specifics from lecture and textbook.

-Footnotes are required when referencing the primary sources.
